"Clinically Dead For 28 Minutes; Betty Experienced Heaven!"

In July 1959, in Terre Haute, Indiana, Betty Malz, 27 years old, after multiple wrong diagnoses by doctors, and 44 days in a coma, was pronounced dead in hospital and a sheet pulled over her head. In her book, 'My Glimpse of Eternity' (see her on YouTube), Betty described her experience of heaven and how she returned to her body to the stunned amazement of her grieving father and hospital personnel.

This is what she wrote...

"Can this be death?" I wondered.

If so, I certainly had nothing to fear. There was no darkness, no uncertainty, only a change in location and a total sense of well-being.

All around me was a magnificent deep blue sky, unobscured by clouds. Looking about, I realized that there was no road or path. Yet I seemed to know where to go. The transition was serene and peaceful. I was walking up a beautiful green hill. It was steep, yet there was no muscular exertion. It was more like a light skipping or floating movement, without effort but my leg motion was effortless and a deep ecstasy flooded my body.

Despite three incisions in my body from the operations for a burst badly infected appendix. I stood erect without pain, enjoying my tallness, free from inhibitions about it.

When they were young(er) —but who are they?

"MY GLIMPSE OF ETERNITY"

I looked down. I seemed to be barefoot, but the complete outer shape of my body was a blur and colourless. Yet I was walking on grass, the most vivid shade of green I had ever seen. Each blade was perhaps one inch long, the texture like fine velvet; every blade was vibrant and moving.

As the bottoms of my feet touched the grass, it felt as though something alive in it was transmitted up through my whole body with each step I took.

Then I realized I was not walking alone. To the left, and a little behind me, strode a tall, masculine-looking figure in a robe. I wondered if he were an angel and tried to see if he had wings. But he was facing me and I could not see his back. I sensed, however, that he could go anywhere he wanted and very quickly.

We did not speak to each other. Somehow it didn't seem necessary, for we were both going in the same direction.

Then I became aware that he was not a stranger. He knew me and I felt a strange kinship with him. Where had we met? Had we always known each other? It seemed we had. Where were we now going?

As we walked together I saw no sun – but light was everywhere. Off to the left there were multi-coloured flowers blooming. Also trees, shrubs.

On the right was a low stone wall.

My emotion was a combination of feelings: youth, serenity, fulfilment, health, awareness, tranquillity. I felt I had everything I ever wanted to have. I was everything I had ever intended to be. I was arriving at where I had always dreamed of being.

A new camp commander had been appointed and while inspecting the place, he saw 2 soldiers guarding a bench.

He went over there and asked them why they guarded it.

"We don't know, sir. The last commander told us to do so, and so we did. It's some sort of regimental tradition!"

He searched for the last commander's phone number and called him to ask him why did he want guards on this particular bench.

"I don't know. The previous commander had guards, so I kept the tradition."

Going back 3 more commanders, he found a retired 100-year-old General.

"Excuse me, sir. I'm now the CO of the camp you commanded 60 years ago. I've found 2 men assigned to guard a bench. Could you please tell me more about the bench?"

"What?! Is the paint still wet?!"

Before Betty died...

"I began to struggle for breath," Betty recalled. "I prayed, 'Oh Lord, send somebody to help me.'"

Immediately after her prayer, she heard a man's footsteps. "I heard the pages of a Bible being turned and the voice of a man I never liked. I couldn't stand Art."

Her unwelcome visitor read from Psalm 107. "He sent his word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions."

The power of God's Word brought a "little fountain of faith" that sprang up in her soul. It was the first glimmer of hope that she might be healed.

Isn't that interesting – God sent someone she didn't like to pray for her, and it was his prayer that was heard!

The wall to my right was higher now and made of many-colored, multi-tiered stones. A light from the other side of the wall shone through a long row of amber-coloured gems several feet above my head. "Topaz," I thought to myself.

Just as we crested the top of the hill, I heard my father's voice calling, "Jesus, Jesus, Jesus." His voice was a long distance away. I thought about turning back to find him, but did not because I knew my destination was ahead. We walked along in silence save for the whisper of a gentle breeze ruffling the white, sheer garments of the angel.

We came upon a magnificent, silver structure. It was like a palace except there were no towers. As we walked toward it, I heard voices. They were melodious, harmonious, blending in chorus and I heard the word, "Jesus." There were more than four parts to their harmony. I not only heard the singing and felt the singing but I joined the singing. I have always had a girl's body, but a low boy's voice.

Suddenly I realized I was singing the way I had always wanted to ... in high, clear and sweet tones.

After a while the music softened, then the unseen voices picked up a new chorus. The voices not only burst forth in more than four parts, but they were in different languages. I was awed by the richness and perfect blending of the words – and I could understand them! I do not know why this was possible except that I was part of a universal experience.

While the angel and I walked together I sensed we could go wherever we willed ourselves to go and be there instantly.

Communication between us was through the projection of thoughts. The words sung in all the different languages were understandable, but I don't know how or why. We all seemed to be on some universal wave length.

I thought at the time, “I will never forget the melody and these words.” But later I could only recall two: “Jesus” and “redeemed.”

The angel stepped forward and put the palm of his hand upon a gate which I had not noticed before. About twelve feet high, the gate was a solid sheet of pearl, with no handles and some lovely scroll work at the top of its Gothic structure. The pearl was translucent so that I could almost, but not quite, see inside. The atmosphere inside was somehow filtered through. My feeling was of ecstatic joy and anticipation at the thought of going inside.

When the angel stepped forward, pressing his palm on the gate, an opening appeared in the centre of the pearl panel and slowly widened and deepened as though the translucent material was dissolving. Inside I saw what appeared to be a street of golden colour with an overlay of glass or water. The yellow light that appeared was dazzling. There is no way to describe it.

I saw no figure, yet I was conscious of a person. Suddenly I knew that the light was Jesus, the person was Jesus.

I did not have to move. The light was all about me. There seemed to be some heat in it as if I were standing in sunlight; my body began to glow. Every part of me was absorbing the light. I felt bathed by the rays of a powerful, penetrating, loving energy.

The angel looked at me and communicated the thought:
"Would you like to go in and join them?"

I longed with all my being to go inside, yet I hesitated. Did I have a choice?

"I would like to stay and sing a little longer, then go back down the hill!" I finally answered.

I started to say something more. But it was too late. The gates slowly melted into one sheet of pearl again and we began walking back down the same beautiful hill.

Then I saw the sun coming up over the wall. This surprised me since it was already very light and there seemed to be no passing of time. It was a lovely sunrise. The topaz and other stones glowed brilliantly. I remember noticing that the wall now made a deep shadow on my side.

Walking down the hill I looked into Terre Haute as the worlds of spirit and time and space began to fuse back together. Ahead of me were many church steeples glistening in the morning sun.

I was suddenly aware of God's love for all his churches. It was a sudden bit of knowledge, as if I were being told this on the inside by the Holy Spirit. At that moment I loved all his churches too; and as my prejudices dissolved, I loved all his people.

Then I saw the tops of trees, then the hospital. My eyes seemed to bore through the walls of the hospital like laser beams, down the hall of the third floor to room 336. I saw a figure on the bed with a sheet pulled over it.

After my descent I slowed down and stopped. The sun's rays were in my eyes.

There were dust particles in the light which suddenly changed to wavy letters about two inches high flashing before me like a ticker-tape message. The letters seemed composed of translucent ivory, only fluid – moving through the rays of the sun. I was back in my hospital bed now and the letters stretched all the way from the window, past my bed and on into the room. They read:

"I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." (John 11:25)

The words were so alive that they pulsed. I knew that I had to touch those living words. I reached up and out and pushed the sheet off my face.

At that instant the Word of God literally became life to me.

There will be a Healing Service on Sunday 24th Sept. at 6pm. Do come. Let God touch YOU with His love.

A robber who gave a bank teller a plastic grocery bag and demanded "all the money in the bank". The teller filled the bag with money and an explosive dye pack that burns at about 400°F when activated. The robber stuffed it down the front of his pants and ran from the bank.

Witnesses then saw "an explosion taking place in his pants". He was seen hopping and jumping around. The hot dye pack seared through the crotch of the robber's jeans and burned a hole in his fly. Witnesses last saw him strip to his boxer shorts and run away, leaving the money and his smoldering jeans behind.

"He's probably sitting around with an ice pack in his lap," a police spokesman said, and alerted hospitals to be on the lookout for someone dyed red complaining of burns on his...er... "person".
